RATS....

The Federal government is about to embark on a plan to exterminate rats. Certainly this is a very white venture and has the support of most citizens. However, if the Federal government goes about it in the usual manner I think it will go like this.

With the signing of the recently enacted "Rat Pact" the president has named Can U. Ketchum prominent Republican to the post of Rat Cat in charge of the Rat program. In selecting a Republican for the post Mr. Johnson said it was in the spirit of the two party system, and that the Republicans have had more experience with rats anyway.

On assuming his $75,000 a year post Mr. Ketchum said he planned to assign several area cats and local community cats at salaries ranging from $40,000 to $15,000 a year depending on how many rats the cats have in their communities.

As to the actual procedures they will follow to exterminate the rats Mr. Ketchum said that plans call for the hiring of several thousand pipers to walk thru the communities and lead the rats to a central disposal area. When asked where this idea came from Mr. Ketchum said he thought of it himself.

Mr. Ketchum said the pipers will be selected from among local Democrats because he feels this is the fair thing to do and Democrats are long overdue in this should be an issue in the job. The pipers will be given Civil Service status and a salary range of $8,500 to $12,700 a year.

Plans also call for the use of the public for turning in rats, government subsidy to people for not raising rats, bringing a rat block parties and many other promotional activities.

The official name of the program will be The Lyndon Baines Johnson Great Society Democratic Action Plan for Providing a Better Life for Every American Thru The Killing Of Rats Committee or LBJGSAFELFEATKORC as it is known in Washington.

A senate committee has been investigating the cost of the program and has come up with the following: the cost of killing rats now runs about 3c per rat, the cost under the new Federal program will run approximately $25.00 per rat. It was the unanimous opinion of the committee that it might be cheaper to keep the rats as pets.

Mr. Ketchum announced the appointment of his brother I. Can Ketchum as his assistant at the starting salary of $60,000 per year, thus boosting the cost per rat to $29.00 each. It now seems that the Keep-a-Rat-for-a-Pet campaign might take hold.

Mr. Johnson affectionately known as the Big Cheese of the program announced that he might consider offering part of our domestic rat supply to other countries under our Foreign Aid program, however, his title Give a Rat to a Friend Overseas was not well received at the UN.

I will endeavor to keep you posted on this and other Federal programs designed by our Great Society.

Sweet Corn Growers Meet Here

The Florida Sweet Corn growers of the Glades began the season activities.

The Florida Sweet Corn Advisory Committee and the Board of Directors for the Florida Sweet Corn Exchange met to approve budgets and elect officers.

Elected to the Advisory Committee were Roy Vandegriff, Jr., Chairman and Lewis Friend, Vice Chairman. Elected to the same offices on both the Advisory Committee and the Exchange Board of Directors were James D. Colbert, secretary-treasurer and Wayne Hawkins, Assistant Secretary. Present President of the Board of Directors was Robert D. Aplegren and Vice President, S. N. Knight. All of the officers were re-elected to post duty until last year.

Vandegriff, Chairman of the Marketing Subcommittee of the Board of Directors, reported on estimates received during the last crop year. Growers gave estimates of amount to be harvested that ranged from perfect to 100% over under. This margin or error in estimating acre to be harvested, Vandegriff said, presented difficulties to the Subcommittee.

Another marketing problem which is charged with suggested price, was also discussed. Aplegren said that a-though three large concerns had held the line last year in the sale of corn, it was not a case of under cutting by some farmer.

Audience suggestions of eliminating this problem ranged from a unified sales organization for sweet corn growers to putting all salesmen in one room so that it would be hard for them to lie to each other, and to prevent buyers from using a packing house.

Aplegren said that those that had tried to live by the regulations were "not going to be that much of a fool" and that a price cutting started this year.

"We can't sell corn for what we sold it for five years ago," he said. "We sold more corn at $2 last spring than we ever before. We can't make good at $2. Ten years ago the wage was $6 a day while the lowest paid man now gets $15 a day."

The organization has dropped to 378 membership with the resignation of two members, Ben Senter and W. H. Vann. However, total acre of last year's beginning total.

Friday Deadline

The Banquet will be held Oct. 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn. Three awards, Man of the Year, a Special Citation, and the Agra-Industrial Award, will be given by the Chamber at that time.

E. Maxwell To Speak

Edgar Maxwell, County Tax Assessor, will be the guest speaker at the Belle Glade Lions Club week.

The Lions host the Civilians and Rotary next week for a debate on education between Republican Representative Bill Brien and John McDonald representing the Palm Beach County Classroom Teachers Association.

City Raises Millage 2.5 Monday To Meet $1,732,615 Budget

The Belle Glade City Commission Monday voted an increase of 2.5 mills for city taxes.

This increase will bring in approximately $75,000 in additional revenue for a total from ad valorem taxes of $392,265 from the total 13 mills.

The total budget for 1967-1968 is $1,732,615.

When the budget was read, Claude Jones asked if the 2.5 mill increase was necessary, saying that the taxpayers of Palm Beach County and Belle Glade were at the saturation point in property taxes.

Other taxpayers who registered objections by saying items on Jones' statement were James C. Collins, J. K. Baker, Norman Nicks, Charles Nicks, J. R. Faulk, Roy Litchfield, R. Steele, W. S. Ingram, William Greer and Elmo Williams. Collins asked if there was not any other way to increase the city's revenue other than raising the millage.

Mayor Bill J. Bailey said that the commissioners have studied the budget carefully and investigated all sources of revenue.

"It is significant," he said, "that we have not had to raise the millage in the past four years."

The commission was able to keep a constant millage, he said, because the growth of the town had provided the additional revenue each year for the city to function properly.

The City Manager Tevis Hugely and Frank Anderson, finance director, read the budget before presenting it to the commission and then commissioners had passed it even more, Bailey said.

Jones suggested to the commission that they give the budget to a committee of five selected from the audience that in a week they could raise that in a week they could raise the millage 10 mill increase," he said.

"Charles increase," referred to an additional 10 mill to be hired by the police department by Chief of Police Charles D. Goodlett. The police budget was raised this year about $80,000 to a total of $257,015. An increase in police will bring the Belle Glade force up to the approximate man power level of similar towns in south Florida.

Police here work a 6 day week while other departments have a five day week. This practice will continue.

Charles Nicks asked that the city live within its means. "We will do without if you will," he said.

Bailey said the budget has been pared down to request money.

"It is the best we will have been able to do and still run the city with services citizens want."

George Young, said in new front apartments recently built in the South West section of the city taxes for city and county now run $140 per apartment per year which is 1/7 of the income. Because of tax increases the buildings have been devaluated from $26,000 to $19,000, he said.

"We are not going to have more construction like that," he said, "with additional taxes."

One of the audience said that at present he owned a piece of real property and 75% of the income went for taxes and insurance. "It is not advisable to own property now," he said.

City Manager Tevis Hugely pointed out that the bill vetoed by Governor Claude Kirk providing an additional two cent tax on cigarettes would have provided the city with an additional $60,000 in revenue. If passed the city would have had to enact only a half mill increase, he said.

The Palm Beach Legislative Delegation, he said, is in favor of the bill and there is some hope that it can be taken up again in November when the legislature meets to certify the constitution.

The Commission took no action on an appointment to the Planning and Zoning Board. It was wrongly reported in the Belle Glade Herald that George L. Williams had received the appointment. He was recommended for the job by other board members but the Commission tabled the appointment until all members could be present.

In other action the Commission accepted a low bid by Cycle and Mower Center in Belle Glade for the purchase of a gang type mower for the golf course at $1,515.00.

P.B. Commission To Back SR 80

The Palm Beach County Commission Tuesday ordered the drawing of a resolution that would give unanimous support to the efforts to four-lane State Road 80.

Commissioner E. W. "Bud" Weaver, Glades representative, took to the Commission last week's edition of THE BELLE GLADE HERALD which asked for such support.

The resolution was ordered drawn for adoption at the next regular meeting.

Some Commissioners, Weaver said, questioned the partisanship feeling expressed in the Editorial but objections were quickly overcome when Weaver, the only Democrat on the Commission, said that Republicans had written the editorial and that both parties were working together for the road in the Glades.

The Editorial stated in part:

"We do not have the unanimous backing of our own community, so how do we expect those outside of our county to be interested. Certainly it is not too much for Glades citizens to expect that the County Commission make a formal statement backing the efforts of the Canal Safety Hazards Committee, it is said indeed. It would have made little difference to those who have perished, to what party the persons belonged, that could help prevent future fatalities."

The party issue arose when Weaver, who is Chairman of the Tri-County State Road 80 group criticized Governor Kirk at a meeting of the group. The comments were prefaced by a statement by Weaver that he was speaking as an individual, not for the Commission.

However, Commission member Gainer resigned from the Committee in protest. The Commission's action Monday giving unanimous support to the work of the four-laning effort will help the two groups in their program of calling attention to the needs of State Road 80.

Thomas S. Walton, chief of Kennedy Space Center's Checkout Equipment Branch, examines electronic equipment used to checkout Apollo spacecraft systems automatically prior to launch.

Walton Tests Space Port Systems

Systems used in space flight must undergo the same tests as those used in the Kennedy Space Center is done under the guidance of Thomas S. Walton. He was a member of the original task group that developed an automatic checkout concept now being used by NASA and is now chief of the checkout equipment branch at KSC.

Walton is from the Glades. He grew up in Clewiston, graduated from high school there and is married to the former Glenda Poole of Belle Glade.

The checkout equipment is called ACE, Acceptance Check out Equipment. ACE automatically tests thousands of components, giving engineers and technicians freedom to actually watch the behavior of systems.

Without ACE it was necessary to search through calibration charts to figure out how well systems were operating. It was a time-consuming task.

Walton says the ACE system is performing as designed and has grown to be a most valuable tool in preparing Apollo for flight.

Spacecraft is connected to ACE. Two thousand measurements that tell what's going on aboard the spacecraft.

Walton says if any of the key parameters checked by ACE exceed the tolerance established for nominal operation, the problem is signalled to the control room.

At least 15 to 20 different test runs are made on each spacecraft, beginning with the checkout of individual systems, proceeding to integrated systems check and continuing to the final pre-launch checkout.

Walton received his Electrical Engineering degree from the University of Florida after serving three years in the Marine Corps. He joined the Space Center program eight years ago. He and his wife have one son, Thomas S. Walton.

Legal action may not be the answer. It is difficult to prove obscenity. Maybe legally this is not obscenity. But is it good taste?

The operators of these news racks do not peddle these magazines for the fun of it, they do so because they think they know what the public wants to buy. The easiest and simplest method of eliminating this type of material from the news stands may be for members of the public to ask that it be removed.

Or do we care that much?

FARM FRONT

Ranching is a Way of Life

By Doyle Conner
Commissioner of Agriculture

Any citizen from the United States visiting an Australian cattle station (ranch) for the first time must certainly be impressed by its vast grazing lands and remoteness of location.

One gets the feeling of being transported back in time to the American West of the late 1800's, with its wilderness of terrain, untamed herds of roaming cattle and lack of modern conveniences.

There is a great majesty in the wild, untamed reaches of the Australian bush country, where beef cattle ranching is a way of life, more so than a profitable industry.

The inhabitants of the back country are sturdy, strong-willed men and women who are true pioneers in every sense of the word.

Like the men and women who tamed our American West, the people of the Northern Territory and Queensland, where the beef cattle industry thrives have migrated from countries throughout the world.

They have chosen to remain on ranches ranging from several hundred to several thousands of acres, far from even the smallest towns, to build new lives for themselves and bring civilization to a virgin continent.

Many of us on this year's Tour have friends and acquaintances from the State of Florida who have pioneered cattle raising in Australia.

Such families who have had this pioneer spirit as the Radeboughs, the Townsends and the Dadds.

All are well-known Florida cattle raising families, who have contributed to the expansion of Florida's cattle industry and who helped to gain the prominence it enjoys in the nation today.

These American families, and others like them from California and other cattle states, are settled near Darwin in the northern part of Australia.

They are building great herds of quality cattle, by improving the blood lines of wild cattle caught on the millions of acres of open range.

This is being accomplished through a selective process, of retaining the best of the wild herds for incorporation into new herds while the older bulls and undesirable cows are sold. It's a big business, believe, would place the name story of Australia's expanding herd of acres of cattle raising export market is the same and Florida cattle families at or being made with mainland near five million acres.

The Townsend family, for Korea, Pakistan, Singapore and Thailand. As American land values, and labor and operating costs continue to soar, capacity of between 40,000 Australia will become even more attractive to the American beef producer.

The fertile soil of Australia's vast open ranges and the lush pasture grasses are contributing to the build-up of a cattle industry which someday will pose a real threat to America's — and Florida's — beef cattle industries.

Given a few more years, and under the tutelage of famers such as the Townsends, Dadds and Radeboughs, Australia's beef cattle export trade will increase tremendously.

Marketing programs of the Australian government are geared toward this end, and with the low ad valorem taxes, home labor and availability of vast tracts of land for development, Australia is becoming more and more a desirable location for American cattlemen with capital to invest.

During 1966 her export trade with Japan reached $470.4 million the previous year to $588.4 million. Japan, which now buys an estimated 20 percent of America's agricultural exports, has become Australia's largest customer.

While I would hesitate to

During the past several years, Australia has developed a great deal of experience in the field of export marketing, and it is recommended to any Florida cattlemen or grower that he transplant his operation to Australia. I have seen first-hand that he could live there, if he had the stamina and the pioneer spirit.

Since there are no government settlement schemes offered by the Australian government for farming and ranching is available by outright purchase lease or share farming.

Although the era of rapid geographical expansion of Australian agricultural industries has passed, land development now is accomplished mainly by the intensification of land use through up-to-date management, scientific methods and capital.

Local Business

How many prospective customers in Cadillac live in a town of 2,000?

Perhaps none. On the other hand, there may be a surprising number of Cadillac owners in Lincoln County.

Lincoln County residents in Lincoln County are in a unique position. The product of Cadillac is a luxury product, and the buyers of luxury cars.

In one small southern town, in the face of considerable risk, one bold businessman started a Cadillac agency. He promoted his product in a small weekly newspaper. Even to his surprise, the response of potential Cadillac owners far exceeded expectations.

By continuing local newspaper advertising to locate customers the dealer in the small city sold more Cadillac cars than any other dealer in America. In fact, the county is known as "Cadillac Kingdom."

Perhaps in the case cited

some people who could not afford luxury automobiles bought them. On the other hand, many people who could afford such goods and who wanted them became aware that they were available locally and at terms which were not beyond their means.

The buyers of super-luxury items are a surprising mixture of people. They are not necessarily extremely wealthy.

They may be elderly retired men and women who have enough savings to splurge for the first time. They may be young business or professional men whose future might be concretely affected by outward appearance.

On the other hand, in most communities there are a lot more plain wealthy people than most of us realize. The job of selling them a Cadillac or Lincoln Continental rests primarily with the local dealer in contacting them through local newspaper advertising.

RAMPANT FANATICISM

Looking back at the National Conference for New Politics held in Chicago early this fall, Americans can see in this strange and terrible gathering the unleashing of the forces of unreason (to put it mildly) in our society.

The meeting, originally designed to unite all the radical elements in the nation and opening with an address by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., quickly disintegrated into a condition of anarchy and total fanaticism.

Actually, the National Conference for New Politics should be viewed as another link in a lengthy chain of ugly events in this nation. The ancestral sources of this meeting, so to speak, include the San Francisco riot against the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the sit-ins conducted against the war in Vietnam, and this past summer's urban riots. The conference, like these other events, was ridden with communists and fellow-travelers.

What we can see in the Chicago conference is the development of radical fanaticism to a mania that is profoundly dangerous to the Republic. Indeed the conference should be equated with the beer hall gatherings of Adolf Hitler and his cohorts in the 1920s. Like the early Nazis, the leftwingers in Chicago want to see the nation in which they live foster a fanatical development inside the conference was the emergence of the so-called Black Caucus. This group was successful in imposing on the conference at large its twisted version of the national and international realities. The liberals in the conference who had some reservations about the most irrational statements of the caucus were overwhelmed. In the last analysis, they meekly surrendered.

The New Leader Magazine, a liberal journal, quoted the remarks of some of the conference participants who were confronted with the Black Caucus positions. "We owe them an endorsement," the New Leader quoted Herman Cole, whom it described as "a pastor and peace candidate for the Buffalo, N. Y. City Council. The magazine also quoted Dr. Bertram Garfinkel of Ann Arbor, Michigan, saying: "To create revolution."

The statements attributed to the conference are undivided in American history for their total departure from reason. The group accepted, for example, the position of the Black Caucus that "white civilization committees be established in all white communities to civilize and humanize the savage and beast-like character that runs rampant throughout America."

Hard-core leftists positions were embraced by the conference. For instance, James Foreman, secretary to the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, insisted upon an unanimous support for condemnation of South Africa and for a boycott of 1968 General Motors automobiles. When one delegate protested the abandonment of parliamentary rules, the presiding officer shouted: "Yes, I'm the dictator."

It should not be imagined that this wild conference in Chicago is an isolated development. It is part of a larger movement in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, coming after the Chicago meeting. The Milwaukee movement, known as a "logical connection," is known to spread in epidemic form. Thus, in Milwaukee, a gang of protesters political hoodlums — invaded the mayor's office and ripped it to pieces. The mayor, in what seems a tragic miscalculation, instructed the police to stand by and let the protestors destroy furniture and carve on paneling. The fact is that radical hoodlums, if they discover they can get away with one act of violence, will engage in many more such acts.

Milwaukee residents learned this when the street protests continued under the leadership of the Rev. James E. Groppi, who has become a specialist in conducting riotous assemblies in that Wisconsin city. Father Groppi has become a paid piper of violence.

Russell Kirk, the distinguished special critic, has written of Father Groppi: "In the church of St. Boniface... the chant of Black Power has supplanted the mass. Songs denouncing the white people are shouted out by these peculiar choirists, whom the reverend father leads in forbidden marches to occupy the offices of aldermen and to intimidate officials at their private homes."

This kind of madness in the streets is increasing in America. It must be stopped. Failure to stop the Nazi hoodlums resulted in Hitler's rule. It could happen here unless the Black Power militants are taken firmly in hand.

Uncle Dan from Doolie Says

Dear Mister Editor:

Bug Hookman was telling the fathers at the country store Saturday night about his troubles. He said his old lady was complaining about her elbow hurting and he figured maybe she'd been leaning on it too much but the doctor said it was arthritis and sent her to the hospital to get x-ray pictures took.

Bug reported that things are the hospital had gone on the automatic just like everything else. He said while he was waiting for his old lady he wandered around and found a place full of them dispensing machines. They had everything to eat and drink and he found a coffee machine and figured out how to punch the buttons for coffee and cream. He watched through a glass while a paper cup dropped down and fell over sideways. The coffee ran over the cup and went right down the drain. All he got for his time was a paper on down the drain. All he got for his time was a paper on down the drain. All he got for his time was a paper on down the drain.

Zeke Grubb allowed as how, with everything going on the automatic, the time was coming, and pretty soon, when folks would forget how to talk to each other. Right now, for instance, he said he could go to a store, pick up a week's groceries in their telephone bags, get a pack of crackers out of one machine and walk ten down with a cold drink from another machine while another machine added up what he owed, pay his bill and go home without saying a word.

Budd Doolittle was agreed with Zeke and was the aim of the Great Society for everybody to have a number tattooed across his forehead, a voter Master Account Number for social security, medicare, draft board, driver's license, home mortgage, life insurance and income tax. He claimed even the churches was going on the automatic. He told the fathers churchmen that went to one of their big churches in the city, reported all the members had got a number and the preacher has asked them to please use their number instead of their names for their contribution envelopes and for any business with the church office.

Clem Webster cleared his throat and was getting ready to defend the Great Society and opening by the number when the father that runs the store announced he was closing up for the night on the automatic.

I hope Mister Editor you don't put your newspaper on the automatic any time soon. You'll get mighty lonesome sitting there by yourself and worrying about what the country was headed for.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

FOR BIGGER WEEKENDS SHIFT HOURS TO MONDAY!

BIGGEST LOBBY EVER HAS! SENATOR!

UNIFORM HOLIDAYS

The idea of uniform Monday holidays is drawing rather widespread support, for many people feel that the innovation would be beneficial to employers, employees, and the public generally.

A Senate bill (S. 1217) provides that Memorial Day would be observed on the last Monday in May; Independence Day on the first Monday in July; Veterans Day on the last Monday in October; Thanksgiving Day on the fourth Monday in November; and Washington's Birthday would be designated as "President's Day" and fall on the third Monday in February.

This proposed legislation would be an intelligent step toward more efficient operation of our industrial system and enable employers to utilize holiday time more effectively.

Uniform Monday holidays would tend to lessen absenteeism and by reducing the number of holiday shut-downs in the middle of the week would make plant operation more economical.

In a change of this magnitude it is important that sufficient lead time be provided to enable state legislators to take similar action. It is also necessary that employers and the public have time to make appropriate plans, and unions and management to adjust the holiday clauses in their contracts.

It is urged that S. 1217 be approved, the law becoming effective on the first day of January of the third year following the date of enactment.

Crime Threatens To Enfold Us

By Lewis Llewellyn
A shocking situation, which threatens the very life of our nation, has been exposed in the recently released FBI report of crime in the United States. This report seems to be receiving less attention than it deserves.

For years we have witnessed a continual increase in crime rates — each year crime increasing five or six times as fast as the increase in population.

But now the FBI reports that, in the first six months of this year, the robbery rate is up 30 percent over the same period last year. Murders increased by 20 percent and violent crimes, taken as a whole, were up 15 percent over last year's tragically high figures.

Modern Woman Subject Of WSCS

"The Modern Woman's Search for Identity" was the theme of the program presented by the American Bradley Circle at the Woman's Society of Christian Service on Tuesday night, Sept. 24. The panel discussion was presented before a backdrop of pictures representing the modern woman in all areas of business, public, and home life.

Mrs. Merritt Clayton, Mrs. Frances Ball, Mrs. Joyce Burger, and Mrs. Betty Rogers took part in the discussion, which brought out ways in which a woman can keep abreast of the times and develop herself as a whole personality. She may find fulfillment through her church work, home life and community affairs, or the may find that she needs the stimulation of the business world.

A young missionary in Uruguay, Charles Birdsong, Jr., is being sponsored by the District W.C.S.C. and his picture and address were displayed so that all the members could get to know him and were urged to correspond with him.

An excellent report was heard concerning the young people of the M.Y.F. who are working with the migrant children at the Pahokee camp each Sunday afternoon in a program of recreation, singing, and Bible study. These young people are enthusiastic and full of spirit, and are in need of equipment and materials to aid their project.

Worldwide Communion Sunday

In a day when there is so much news concerning Christian unity there is no single event which more completely captures the sense of oneness than Worldwide Communion Sunday. To be observed Oct. 1 this year, the day will find Christians of every color and creed uniting in the symbolic act of partaking of the elements of the Holy Communion.

Methodists in more than 38,000 churches across the 50 states will join with our church in celebrating this day. The joy that comes from our sense of unity on Worldwide Communion Sunday reduces or erases such natural or man-made barriers as oceans and walls, boundaries and curtains of iron and bamboo.

One of the overpowering bonds is the fact that all men are in need. There is the need for the Way, for the Truth, and Life which was set forth by Christ. There are also human needs which other humans are expected to meet.

Through the Fellowship of Suffering and Service Methodists are able to put into this one day the doctrines of both faith and works. As they rededicate themselves through their faith they also express this faith in works through the offering for the Fellowship of Suffering and Service.

With nearly a half million U. S. military personnel in Vietnam and more than one million refugees in Vietnam, we see in this one country examples of needs which must be met. Through the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief we are able to join other churches in reaching out to help women, women and children who are refugees with their own war-torn land. The Vietnam Christian Service permits Methodists, doctors, agricultural and social workers are on duty in refugee camps and slums of the cities. We are trying, in this way, to take to the people of this ravaged land, "There are those who care" — and this is more than an idle emotional response, for it is concrete in the help which we can send through MCO.

Added to the half million American service personnel in Vietnam are those in the U.S.A. and at base elsewhere. These men need the moral support and spiritual guidance which comes through chaplains.

Rams Tread Trigo's Bobcats

By Rampage Staffers
Gail Sullivan and Jim Baker

Belle Glade Golden Rams Junior Varsity (J.V.), put their second game of the season on ice Thursday as they trampled the Boca Raton Bobcats 33-0.

Wayne Trigo, former coach of the Rams, now coaching at Boca Raton, was on the sidelines as his former boys triumphed over the Boca Bobcats.

Boca Raton lost possession of the ball as Sonny Crawford recovered a blocked punt on the Boca 20 yard line. With 6 seconds remaining in the first quarter set up Belle Glade to complete a 15 yard pass to Charles Johnson for the first touchdown. The attempt for the point after touchdown was wide.

After kick off Belle Glade recovered their own punt on the Boca 32 yard line. The Bobcats were surprised by surprise as Bob Alderman booted an on-side kick which was recovered by Greg Jones for the Rams.

After a quick exchange of the ball on fumbles the Rams Charles Johnson handed off to Jerry Couson for a 20 yard scoring run. With 8 minutes left in the half the score was Belle Glade 12, Boca Raton, 0.

Boca received the kick off on the first play from scrimmage Eddie McGilgarny jarred the ball from the Bobcats hands and Jack Prevatt recovered the fumble in the end zone for six more points. The point after touchdown was good.

As the second half began, the score board read Belle Glade 19 to Boca 0.

Another fumble late in the third quarter set up Belle Glade's fifth score. DeWayne Mackey recovered the fumble on the five yard line. With three minutes in the third quarter. Close handed off to Paul Prescott for the touchdown.

The point after touchdown was good and the Rams moved a 26-0.

Belle Glade's final touchdown came when a fourth fumble was recovered by Belle Glade on Boca 20 yard line. The short drive was capped by McGilgarny on a 12 yard run. The point after touchdown was wide.

As the final horn blew the score was Belle Glade 32-0.

ITV Is Coming To Area Schools

Instructional Television will soon be a reality for all Glades public schools, it is announced by County Superintendent Robert W. Fulton.

The County School Board has let a contract for construction of a TV transmitting tower on a site adjacent to the Pahokee-Belle Glade Highway. Low bidder was the Jerrold Electronics, Inc., of Philadelphia, and the contract includes the closed circuit wiring of all Glades schools.

The contract, which is for $204,209, calls for its completion in 150 days "and we hope to be on the air in the Glades sometime during the second semester of this school year," Fulton said. The contract also covers construction of another tower at Riviera Beach, and the closed circuit wiring of a majority of schools in the north coastal area of the county.

I.T.V. will not be used as a substitute for teachers, but as a teacher's aid.

Forest Hill Stopped Rams

By Rampage Staffers
Kathy Morris and Sandy Bets

Belle Glade plagued by injuries and penalties Friday night, was held to an almost standstill as Forest Hill romped to a twenty-four to seven win.

The Rams only touchdowns came with only 22 seconds left in the second quarter when Andy Ballard completed a six yard pass to Terry Mann. Tim Erving ran the extra point after receiving a pass from Ballard.

The Falcons were leading twelve to seven at the half. Their first two touchdowns came on passes from Ken Stone to Terry Mock and Ron Ratliff. The Falcons scored twice in the third quarter on runs by Robert Giordano and Ratliff. None of Forest Hill's extra points were converted.

The Belle Glade-Forest Hill game has been an annual event for the past ten years. Belle Glade has won the event six times and Forest Hill four. Each year the event has either been played in the rain or postponed because of rain. This year was no exception. The rains started at six p. m. and continued through the first quarter.

The first principal at Forest Hill was Frank Hobson who transferred from Belle Glade to Forest Hill when the school was first opened. This created a tradition of quiet rivalry between the two schools. Because of this each year the host school invites representatives from the visiting school to be present at their Pop Assembly. Friday the president of Forest Hills Student Council and the Falcon's cheerleaders attended the Rams' pep rally.

Editors For Ram Page And Rambler Elected By Class

By Dick Hooker

Editors of the RAMBLER and the RAMPAGE have been elected by the journalism class. This year's class is composed of twenty-three people who have the job of writing articles for the weekly Ram Page that appears in the BELLE GLADE HERALD, and creating an annual which will serve as a pictorial book of memories of the 1967-1968 school year.

Ram Page editors are Sharon Walls and Marilyn Stokes. Zaski Shapiro was elected the features editor. These people are responsible along with their advisor, Mrs. Sue Tees for assigning stories and editing the articles. On Monday the two co-editors, with a rotating team of two other class members, go to the HERALD to copy-read the articles before they do the actual layout.

On Tuesday, the paper is then printed and is sold Thursday. Chosen as co-editors for the BGHS annual, the RAMBLER, were Carol Betts and Dick Hooker. Barbara Dexter was appointed Business Manager and Barry Banks was named the school photographer. Different section editors elected and their sections are: Sports, Barbara Williams and Jim Baker; Honor and Activities, Kathy Morris and Margaret Thompson; Classes, Linda Richey and Margaret Cross; Copy, Jeannie Ayres, and Layout, Pam Whitlock. All of these editors will, with the rest of the staff, sell ads and subscriptions, make layouts, write copy, and edit the 1968 RAMBLER.

We hear the fourth of July came early this year at the Harris home right Senior girls?

Leslie A., we hear the heat is coming back from an old flame. Could it be a Junior High blonde?

Dennis F., we hear your ear actually fell apart on your way to school last Tuesday.
